

Finance & Accounting BPS

Transform and optimize your processes to realize your financial transformation goals

Businesses operate on money. Controlling money helps you to control your businesses better. Proper accounting of income and expenses helps you to manage money flow and direct the course of your business. Finance and Accounting (F&A) is of strategic importance to all businesses and plays an existential role in managing the business. Automating transactional business processes will enable F&A to deliver compelling value.

Dissimilar and incorrectly aligned F&A processes cause long cycle time for core transactions and lead to ineffective use of human capital. Limited process automation in F&A workflows increase operating costs, cause process inefficiencies, and bring in complexities in managing compliance requirements. Additionally, lack of real time visibility on operational and commercial transactions causes revenue leakage.

HTC's F&A BPS Service Offerings

HTC's Finance and Accounting Services cover multiple F&A related workflows. This includes Accounts Payable (AP), Accounts Receivable (AR), and Order to Cash. Our end-to-end services help CFOs consolidate, standardize, and automate core business processes, resulting in increased cash flow, reduced operating costs, minimized revenue leakage, and higher margins.

HTC's F&A services enable businesses to reduce manual touch points across their business processes and shorten the turnaround time (TAT) for key F&A transactions. We help business simplify and standardize their workflows for enabling transparent and effective control of financial operations.

Our F&A services help you to transform and optimize your processes to realize your financial transformation goals. We bring in operational efficiency through efficient people, cutting-edge digital technology, and agile analytics. This results in increase in Working Capital and Clients satisfaction
